

Contents

Series Editors' Foreword ix

FIRST PART 庄子内篇诠释 ZHUANGZI NEIPIAN QUANSHI Annotations to the Inner Chapters of Zhuangzi

Preface 3

- I 逍遥游 Xiaoyaoyou—Free and Easy Wandering: Opening the Heart and the Reconsideration of Values 5
- II 齐物论 Qiwulun—The Equality of Things: Making the Spirit Equal and Getting Rid of Self-Centered Patterns 16
- III 养生主 Yangshengzhu—What Matters in Nurturing Life: Expounding the Life of the Spirit 36
- IV 人间事 Renjianshi—Worldly Business among Men: The Tragic Mentality of the Intellectuals and Their Isolated Knowledge 40
- V 德充符 Dechongfu—The Signs of the Fullness of Power: The Aesthetic Mind of the Ideal Person and the Cosmic Spirit 50
- VI 大宗师 Da Zongshi—“The Teacher Who is the Ultimate Ancestor”: The State of “Heaven and Man Form a Unity” and the Concept of “Life and Death are the Same” 56
- VII 应帝王 Yingdiwang—Responds to Emperors and Kings: Anarchism 70

SECOND PART 外物 WAI WU Explanation of the Outer Chapters

Introduction 81

- I 骈拇 Pianmu—Webbed Toes: Giving Free Reign to Emotions and Following One's Natural Disposition 84

- II 马蹄 Madi—Horses' Hooves: Looking For a World of Complete Virtue 88
- III 祛篋 Quqie—Cutting Open Satchels: If You Steal a Country, You Are a Lord 91
- IV 在宥 Zaiyou—Letting Be and Exercising Forbearance: Setting One's Mind at Ease and Following One's Nature 95
- V 天地 Tiandi—Heaven and Earth: Purposelessness Found the Dark Pearl 101
- VI 天道 Tiandao—The Way of Heaven: The Meaning Outside the Words 110
- VII 天运 Tianyun—The Rotations of Heaven: Ceremonies and Moral Standards Adapt to the Times 115
- VIII 刻意 Keyi—Ingrained Ideas: The Spirit Spreads into the Four Directions 121
- IX 缮性 Shanxing—Cultivating One's Inner Nature: The Simultaneous Nourishment of Knowledge and Serenity 124
- X 秋水 Qiushui—Autumn Floods: A Dialogue Between Rivers and the Sea 127
- XI 至乐 Zhile—Perfect Enjoyment: Marquis of Lu is Nourishing a Bird 141
- XII 达生 Dasheng—Full Understanding of Life: The Mental State of Arts 148
- XIII 山木 Shanmu—The Tree on the Mountain: Observing Time and Pursuing Harmony 159
- XIV 田子方 Tian Zifang—Perfect Beauty and Perfect Happiness 166
- XV 知北游 Zhi Bei You—The Dao Does Not Leave the Things 173

THIRD PART ZHUANGZI ZAPIAN 庄子杂篇
Profound Explanation of the Miscellaneous Chapters

- Preface 185
- I 庚桑楚 Geng Sangchu—The Innate Nature is the Substance of Life 187
- II 徐无鬼 Xu Wugui—A Person Banished to Exile Remembers His Parents 189
- III 则阳 Zeyang—The Ten Thousand Things Differ In Principle, but the Dao Shows No Partiality Among Them 193
- IV 外物 Wai Wu—Outer Things: Get the Idea and Forget the Words 199
- V 寓言 Yuyan—Metaphorical Language: The Implications of the Three Words 203
- VI 让王 Rang Wang—Abdicating the Throne: The Truth of the Dao Lies in the Regulation of the Person 206
- VII 盗跖 Dao Zhi—Robber Zhi: “For the Sake of Gain They All Brought Confusion to the Truth within Them and Did Violence to Their True Form and Innate Nature” 209
- VIII 说剑 Shuo Jian—Discoursing on Swords: The Feudal Lords Return to Their Former Obedience and How to Pacify the Neighbors on All Sides 211
- IX 渔夫 Yu Fu—The Old Fisherman: “By Truth I Mean Purity and Sincerity in Their Highest Degrees” 212
- X 列御寇 Lie Yukou—“Looking On What is Deemed Necessary as Unnecessary” 215
- XI 天下 Tianxia—The World: “Inwardly a Sage and Outwardly a King” 217
- Index 219