

Contents

Foreword VII
Michael Buckmiller

Introduction 1

PART 1

Society

- 1 Marxism and Sociology 7
- 2 The Principle of Historical Specification 12
- 3 The Principle of Historical Specification (continued) 22
- 4 The Principle of Change 27
- 5 The Principle of Criticism 35
- 6 A New Type of Generalisation 47
- 7 Practical Implications 54

PART 2

Political Economy

- 1 Marxism and Political Economy 61
- 2 From Political Economy to 'Economics' 65
- 3 From Political Economy to the Marxian Critique of Political Economy 70
- 4 Scientific versus Philosophical Criticism of Political Economy 76
- 5 Two Aspects of Revolutionary Materialism in Marx's Economic Theory 80

6	The Economic Theory of Capital	84
7	The Fetishism of Commodities	91
8	The 'Social Contract'	98
9	The Law of Value	102
10	Common Misunderstandings of the Marxian Doctrine of Value and Surplus-Value	108
11	The Ultimate Aims of Marx's Critique of Political Economy	112

PART 3

History

1	The Materialist Conception of History	121
2	The Genesis of Historical Materialism	125
3	The Materialist Scheme of Society	133
4	Nature and Society	138
5	Productive Forces and Production-Relations	145
6	Base and Superstructure	157
7	Conclusions	169
	Bibliography	175
	Index of Names	183