

Contents

Acknowledgements IX

Introduction 1

- 1 The Festivals and Genre 1
- 2 The Comic and the Serious 7
- 3 Overview: A Developmental Study 14

1 Comedy and Tragedy in Athens 22

- 1 The Development of Comedy and Tragedy 22
- 2 Masks, Costumes, Choruses, Language, and Props 39
 - 2.1 Masks 39
 - 2.2 Costume 46
 - 2.3 Chorus 51
 - 2.4 Language and Props 54
- 3 Comedy, Tragedy, and Euripides 64

2 Satyr Drama and the Cyclops: Where Tragedy and Comedy Meet 74

- 1 Comic Satyrs/Tragic Tales 74
- 2 Satyr Play: Net-Dragers, Festival-Goers, Trackers 84
 - 2.1 Back to the Beginning: The Tragic Tetralogy 84
 - 2.2 Freedom and Slavery, Satyrs and Cities 90
- 3 The Cyclops 96
 - 3.1 The Cyclops as Satyr Play 96
 - 3.2 Euripides the Iconoclast 99

3 The Acharnians and the Paradox of the City 106

- 1 Tragedy, Comedy, and Politics 106
- 2 The Oresteia and the Bacchae: The City in a Greater Whole 112
 - 2.1 The Oresteia: The Divine, the Human, and the City 112
 - 2.2 The Bacchae: The God's Challenge to Thebes 117
- 3 The Double Vision of the Acharnians 121
 - 3.1 Dikaiopolis Fair and Foul or Absurdity and the City 125
 - 3.2 Dikaiopolis, Telephus, and Aristophanes: Dressing up as Yourself 132

4 The Wasps: Comic Heroes/Tragic Heroes 141

- 1 Comic and Tragic Consistency 141

2	Ajax and Medea: A Focus on Identity	146
2.1	Ajax: The Refusal to Yield	148
2.2	Medea and Medea: A Personal Necessity	154
3	Wasps: The Hero as Chameleon	160
3.1	From Juror to Free Spirit	161
3.2	Philocteon's Metatheatrical Freedom	165
4	Aristophanes and the Three Stooges: Pitying Your Betters, Envyng Inferior Men	171
5	Oedipus Tyrannos and the Knights: Oracles, Divine and Human	177
1	Oedipus Tyrannos : Human and Divine Meaning	181
2	The Human Oracles of the Knights	184
3	Hidden Meanings and the Rejuvenation of Demos	191
4	Comedy and Carnival or Tragedy Upside Down	199
6	Persians, Peace, and Birds: God and Man in Wartime	204
1	The Persians : War, Empire, and the Divine	208
2	The Peace : Finding a God for Athens	219
3	The Birds : An Athenian on Olympus	230
7	Women at the Thesmophoria and Frogs: Aristophanes on Tragedy and Comedy	241
1	Parody, Metatheater, and Dialogue	241
2	Women at the Thesmophoria : Comedy and Tragedy Talk	248
2.1	The Marriage of Comedy and Tragedy: Gender and Genre, Once More, with Feeling	251
2.2	Tragedy Takes Over: A Confrontation	257
3	Frogs : Comedy—and Tragedy—Save the City	261
3.1	The Descent into Hades or Kicking in Open Doors	261
3.2	Initiation and Polarities or Discovering Tragedy	267
3.3	The Individual and the Polis: Analysis and Emotion	271
	Conclusion: The Dionysia's Many Voices	285
	Synopses	295
	Glossary	309
	Bibliography	315
	Index	367