

Notes on Contributors vii

Introduction 1

Kanta Dihal

part 1

The Banality and the Familiarity of Evil

1 From Victims to Perpetrators: the Banality of Evil in Jonathan Littell's The Kindly Ones 7
Damian Catani

2 Unspeakable Banality: Discourse in Dispute 31
Cassie Pedersen

part 2

Genocide in Rwanda

3 In Plain Sight: the Ethics of Proximity in the Holocaust and the Rwandan Genocide 55
Sarah Gendron

4 On the Role of Nation- States in Regulating Evil: a Case Study on Rwanda 74
Sally Nadeau

5 Extraordinary Forgiveness 93
Jennifer Vanderheyden

part 3

Capitalism and the Socio- Psychology of Evil

6 Late Capitalism, Psychopathy and the Ontology of Evil 117
Helen Patey

7 Psychologising Evil in the Media: a Market- Like Exchange of Political Responsibility for Isolation in the Greek Crisis Environment 142
Sophia Kanaouti

8 The Fury of 'Ressentiment': Binary Codes, Evil and Society 171
Spiros Gangas

9 On the Usefulness of Being Unrealistic: a Critique of Freud's Arguments against Neighbour Love
195
Regan Lance Reitsma

part 4

Dehumanization, the Law and the Prison

10 Socio-Spatial Scripts: Evil and the Contestation of Space and Being 223
Rallie Murray

11 The Intersection between Evil and Architecture: Environment and Agency 241
Robert W. Butler

12 Choosing between Two Evils: a Philosophical Consideration of the Defences of Necessity and Duress in English Law 257
Stephen Banks

